Reasons for Allowance

The Independent claims recite information services to a customer based upon calling information and a limitation for the following:

"determining whether the caller is authorized to have the connection made through the information assistance service based at least on data concerning an area from which the call originates, and the types of call allowed by the account, the data concerning the area not derivable from the calling telephone number"

The prior art of record teaches information services to authorized callers based on originating calling areas derivable from telephone numbers. This is different because the limitation recites originating calling areas not derivable from telephone numbers. New search updates revealed no other prior art which teaches the limitation in the context of the claims. Therefore, Claims 57,59-60,62-63,65-66,68-69,72-73,75-76 are indicated allowable.
